How Not To Sleep.

Don't sleep on your left side for it causes too great a pressure on the heart.

Don't sleep on your right side for it interferes with the respiration of that lung.

Don't sleep on your stomach, for that interferes with the respiration of both lungs and makes breathing difficult.

Don't sleep on your back, for this method of getting rest is bad for the nervous system.

Don't sleep sitting in a chair, for your body falls into an unnatural position and you can not get the necessary relaxation.

Don't sleep standing up, for you may topple over and crack your skull.

Don't sleep. —Puck.

The Value of System.

The great majority of people could double their power of achievement by a little self-discipline in learning so to get hold of themselves as to depend on the prompt, decisive action of their own faculties.

A little system alone would double the efficiency of many a business man who does not know why he does not get on faster. He works very hard perhaps and thinks that he has not half time enough to do what he ought to, but he could save more than half the time that he now throws away in doing things over again from lack of order. System is a tremendous energy saver and time saver.—Orison Sweet Marden in "Success Magazine."

ORANGE BLOSSOM

MOZART CLUB TO BEGIN WORK THURSDAY 19TH

WILL STUDY "H. M. S. PINAFORE, OR THE LASS THAT LOVED A SAILOR"—A GOOD OLD PLAY.

GIVEN HERE 32 YEARS AGO

Judge A. C. Capron Led Local Musicians, Dr. Reynolds Taking Prominent Part—Prof. Owens Will Direct.

The Mozart Club will begin the work for the coming year on next Thursday evening at 7:30 at the K. P. Hall. The officers have had several meetings, and planned the work to be undertaken. It is proposed to take up the Comic Opera "H. M. S. Pinafore, or the Lass that Loved a Sailor," by W. S. Gilbert. This opera was given in the old Centennial opera house, some thirty-two years ago, under the direction of Judge A. C. Capron, and Dr. G. H. Reynolds took a prominent part, as did Mr. E. W. Hill and others. This opera is by far the most popular comic opera ever written, and the fact that it has held the board in our larger cities for all these years, is sufficient evidence of its high standing.

Along with Pinafore the club will take up the Cantata of "The Seasons" that has been done by the large Chorus societies of the city with the view of giving a Spring Festival in May next to close the year's work. It is also proposed to give during the year two or three "musicales" that will show the work of the club, and add interest and enjoyment to the regular study.

Of course Prof. H. W. Owens of Chicago and Winona will be the director. He is so well known that the mention of his name carries due weight. It is indeed fortunate for Plymouth that Prof. Owens has a love for the Mozart Club, as were he to consider monetary interests they could not have his services. The work done by the Mozart Club has been in all their past of a high character, and from the outline made it is evident that no backward step will be taken this year, but that by spring they will have a real treat for the music lovers of the city.

The officers ask all old members to be prompt and sure at the first meeting next Thursday, Oct. 19, and all others who would enjoy the study and training with the club, are invited and urged to come and join with them in the work planned out.

The accompanists will be the Misses Irene Kuhn and Ferrel Shafter.

His Need Worse Than Hers.

Of Interest to Women.

An illustrated article in Saturday's Indianapolis News about the work Mrs. Olaf Guldin of Ft. Wayne is doing in the Woman's Federation is of considerable interest to all women. Mrs. Guldin's chief energy has been devoted to household economics—a matter which appeals at once to every woman who lives in a house.

A Medicine that Gives Confidence Is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Mrs. T. J. Adams, 522 No. Kansas Ave., Columbus, Kas., writes: "For a number of years my children have been subject to coughs and colds. I used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and found that it cured their coughs and colds, so I keep it in the house all the time." Refuse substitutes. For sale by Fred Wenzler.

How the Government Helps Women.

Once upon a time, writes Isabel Gordon Curtis in an article in "Success Magazine," I spent an interesting hour with Secretary Wilson. He told me the story of what Uncle Sam is doing for the women of America.

"Thousands of people think," he began, "that the Agricultural Department helps nobody but the farmer. Of course while helping the farmer incidentally we help the farmer's wife and daughter—only we do more than that. Hundreds of men and women in our department work year in and year out to solve problems which face the woman who lives in the country. We teach her how to make the best possible use of the food she raises, how to market it, preserve and cook it in ways that are new to country people. We show her how to plan a house, that is as sanitary, convenient, easily heated and comfortable as the average city home. Generally it is a much less expensive and more beautifully located home than a dweller in the city can achieve. Our experts simplify kitchen toil as they ease the farmer's field labor. They teach how to exterminate house pests, lay out a pleasant flower or vegetable garden and attractive grounds. They suggest shrubs and vines which will thrive in different climates and tell her to care for them. When the farmer's wife is brought face to face with any difficulty all she has to do is to write to us. We help her if it is in our power, not only with bulletins prepared by the first experts in the country but also by personal letters. The men and women in charge of each bureau give a lifetime of study to one science."

"I have a profound belief in helping the country woman as far as possible because it tells on America's future in this way: The girl who sees her mother drudge out her life in hard unrelenting toil looks for a very different future. Of course her eyes are turned upon the city and when the first chance comes she leaves home. She will tell you she has no intention of becoming the slave her mother has been. We combat this feeling by every means in our power. The best way to do it is by making a country home so pleasant, convenient, comfortable and attractive that children will hate to leave it."

In The Old School Days.

I remember, I remember the house where I was born; the voice of dad that bellowed forth to rouse me every morn; the picnic that I always had when winter breezes blew, to clear the sidewalk of the snow; the chores I had to do, I remember I remember, the old-time days in school, the lickings that I always got for breaking some darned rule; the moonlight nights I used to go out in the old bob sleigh and hug and kiss the pretty girls among the robes and hay. I remember, I remember, oh, no, I'll not forget; I'd like to wander back again to those old days, you bet!—Troy (Ks.) Chief.

Don't trifle with a cold is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in case of a child. There is nothing better than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs and colds in children. It is safe and sure. For sale by All Dealers.

Little Robbie Sands.

One of the finest and best gospel sermons ever heard in Plymouth, was preached at the Methodist church Sunday evening by Robert Morrill Sands. He was born in Plymouth, his mother died when he was a lad and if he ever saw his father it was before he was old enough to recognize him. His grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morrill and their daughters cared for him until he was about seventeen years old when he joined the salvation army. He attended the Plymouth schools until that time, learned easily, but was very unpretentious in appearance and was known to everybody in the southeast part of the city ten or twelve years ago as "Little Robbie Sands." A few years ago he was married, studied for the ministry and having always been a member of the Methodist church, he was licensed to preach by the Northwest Indiana Conference, preached last year at the Stull church, South Bend, was appointed to the Kirklint charge in Clinton county at the close of the conference last week and stopped to visit relatives here on his way from South Bend to his new charge. Rev. Mr. Fraley asked him to preach Sunday night and many persons thought it would not pay them to hear "Little Robbie" talk, but those who heard him feel that if his life is spared many years he will be one of the great preachers of the church.
